that of my good friend, Baron Munchausen, the character of Ananias has been much misunderstood by later generations. Certainly, during my intercourse with him, my impression was always that Ananias was a man of probity. Socially, I knew he was ever truthful, sometimes embarrassingly so. In evidence of this I remember distinctly hearing him answer his 893 mother-in-law one evening, when the old lady had been particularly disagrecable, in a fashion which was indicative of the

It was then that the poet's wife left him. The statement that Ananias was struck by lightning with a lie on his lips is absolutoly true, and it was a frightful tragedy, but we not mix up cause and effect without a due knowledge of the real facts. The trouble between the Government THE KIRK.

France and the Re man Catholic Church, $19.50 which seems to be now coming to a head, brings to mind a Scotch anecdote. The story is told about the time when the Disestablishment crusado flourishing. The minister of one church who was very much afraid of the movement went one day to the beadle, who was also sexton, and said: 'Well, John, what do you think we had better do about this Church Disestablishment movement? John replied, 'Dinna yo fash yersel about it, meenister. D'ye min' when you four got made intil a committee tae turn me not a' ma office for drinkin'? Weel, I hav happit up three o' them sin syne, an' I hae ma e'e on the fourth. It's a dangerous thing, meenister, the meddle wi' the Kirk' And so the French may find it out. At one time the Roman Catholic Church used armies to enforce her demands who occavionally succeeded in standing much in the position of to the estate day. Originally the day was set apart for decorating the graves of soldiers and sailors who fell in the war for the Union in 1861-65, but now it is observed to keep green the graves of all those who have fallen in battle for the glory of the Union States In Cuba and in Manila there are crosses mark ing the last resting places of departed soldiers, and those, in company with the sacred mouldering mounds which speak of the great Civil war, will bear the freshest of flowers and the greenest of leaves. The decoration of the graves of the Confederate dead is usually performed on various days in April, the Southern States baving selected that month in preference to May. Down in the South the day is known as Memorial Day, instead of Decoration Day, and there seems to be a tendency in the North to adopt a similar title Decoration Day does seem a rather peculiar name for a day which is essentially a Memorial Day, and in our By such examples is the prosperity of opinion a change from the one to the other would do more to keep the sacred reason for its observance more pro ininently before the people than appears to be the case at present. It is the custom in many quarters in the United States to regard the day as one set apart for a run in the pine forests, and if that idea gains ground its significance will soon entirely disappear altogether. Many people in Great Britain have urged the Government to set apart a day upon which all the citizen's could turn to the graves of those who have made the nation what it is, and set a kindly hand to place a rose where every weed now flourishes, but rather than run the risk of such an annual occasion resolving itself into a general holiday it would be better to have no memorial time at all.

It has often been said A LANDMARK that a Church, a post office, a newspaper, a prison, and several other necessities and luxuries of civilisation, are the first institutions to make themsolves apparent in a civilised settlement. All of these luxurions-necessities made their appearance in Hongkong in the early forties of last century, within a Colonial Secretary, says a cable from Lonyear or two of the establishment of the Colony. But outside of the rough and incomplete list given above, we must include a Dispensary, and this particular institution seems to us to have been established in the very earliest stages of the Colony's existence. It is stated that the Hongkong Dispensary was very little was done to celebrate tha opened here in 1841, and there seems to be no one left to gainsay the statement. Perhaps, the institution was formed in Canton, and brought down to Hongkong when the flag was raised on Possesion Point. Anyhow, we have seen archives in the possession of Messru A. S. Watson and bearing date Jan. 1, 1845, about 1 year and II months after the China Mail until their return from the north, which began to shed light over this part of the will be in about a fortnight's time. world. Mr Young was evidently the founder of the Dispensary, and our Scotch readers will be pleased to learn that the goods imported for House were principally furnished by a famous Edinburgh emporium of drugs, etc Indeed, the successor of Dr or Mr Young (Mr Watson) was sent out by Messes Duncan Fleckart & Co., and his name is still retained in the name of the flourishing and growing Company which is spreading its agencies all over the Further East. Some residents here still exist who knew Mr Watson per sonally, as he returned to Scotland in 1864 or 1865, leaving Messra Jardine, Matheson and Co, as his attorney those days we had no Hongkong and Shanghai Hank, so that the oldest and most trusted firms did most of this sort of business then. For about half a century the Dispensary has occupied the premises which are now closed, and in the sixtics and seventies the rooms on the upper floors were occupied by the offices of nearly all the legal luminaries of the Colony -E. The Japan-Russian war has told very unfavourably on the Chefoo market, says the Kokumin, so much so that more than 100 commercial firms, large and small, have closed their doors. The causes of this depression are: (1) the suspension of transactions with the Liaotung peninsula, (2) a recent panic on the money market, and (3) communication with the outside world. Japan's trade with Chefoo has also noticeably declined. It may be added that, whereas the Japanese paper currency is very freely circulated at that Chinese port, the Russian rouble currency has been quoted as low as 70 or 80 cents, Mexican currency, this being due to the repeated Russian reverses.

According to a letter from Chinchon since the great defeat of the Russians at Kiuliencheng the native inhabitants of Manchuris have been in closer touch with the mounted bandits. Some have joined the bandits, others are assisting them with military wespons and otherwise with provisions, their sole object being to put every possible obstacle in the way of the minos under Russian control in Yentai; at verner-General of the District. Changtan and all along there, four south of Lisoyang; in the vicinity of Tienshui station, and between Linoyang and Moutienling, where they are hampering the operations of the Russian forces, between Shihtzeshan land Fengchiatun. and destroying the Russian railway; between Changchuan and Kuachiatien, in places near Liaoyang and Kupangtze at Sunghuakiang where they are gathering Yitungchou where there are over south of Lisoyang, where the bandit chief Besides these places just mentioned, mounted bandits are rife from Yinkow to

It took a day and a night for the train that left Moukden ou the 19th of last Moon to reach Tashichio in Liaoyang, the reason given being that mounted bandits encountered all along the way. They were making things very unpleasant to the Russians, and the train had to stop

When the time did come to santence them, however, punishment came down upon them with a clap. The Chinese magistrate ordered them to be put to death and the other magistrates allotted them imprisonment. The only thing that some one did not give them was their freedom. Then there was a deadlock. No one knew which sentence to inflict. It could not be decided whether it would be better to labead them first and imprison them afterwards, or do vice versa, or both at the one time. After a white the conclusion was come to that beheading was too good for them and the Assessor and the Chibsien got together and sentenced Chan Yung to two years' imprisonment, and Chang Ping Yung to three years' imprisonment. After that they are not to be allowed in any foreign settlement in China, which is decidedly bad for them, since it is probable that they will not if they are known to the Court, be allowed to rest in any Chinese town. There is only one place left for them then and that is Hongkong. We always seem to stand here with open arms waiting for men who have broken the laws of China. However, the two in question are not so bad as many who are already here. They have only been guilty of indulging in a little ultrademocracy They have shouted out about their own country's rulers in a fashion which is not in accord with the tastes of Peking, and the result is they will have to nuffer for it. The case attracted a considerable amount of public attention and even began to assume international im portance, but intrinsically it was of no account. The men were on a newspaper and they expressed their opinions too freely, and China wanted to kill them for

They took an office away up high in the 'flat-iron' building, and pasted a notice on the door which soon attracted quite a rush of customers. It read : "Eight charming, refined young ladies will act as guides to gentlemen and ladies visiting New York. Bohemia, with its fascinating galeties, "petit diners," and a peep into places seldom visited will be shown. Denizens of the sky-scraper were at first quite concerned about the crowd of people who rushed to the building fired with thede sire to be guided about Bohemia and shown things seldom seen. The girls trotted them round the Haymarket, and explained that it was called the Hay market because hay was not sold there, and took them to Chinese joss houses and pointed out the dirt in the musty corners. They rushed them into restaurants, and about theaftes, and generally pointed out places that could disappointed those whom they guided about but they made plenty of money from newcomers, and that was the main point. The natrons still come in plenty because the girls are pretty. Since it seems that people are prepared to spend their capital to be shown things they have seen before because their guides are pretty girls, would not be a bad idea for some of the Hongkong ladies to institute a similar bureap. They could devote the proceeds to a fund to help wandering dogs or cats, or to buying ice-creams.

Sra, -- Yesterday was in no sense a day of rest in the Eastern part of this Colony a number of Chinose boats had congregated in that part of the harbour opposite Heard Street. It was some festive occasion and for several hours, from a Chinese band, sounds almost deafening were forthcoming. Although anchored perhaps a hundred yards from the shore, the clanging of the cymbals INDO-CHINA STEAM NAVIGATION and the besting of the gongs, could be heard for a long distance. The intervals between the 'pieces' were occupied with setting off fire-crackers. The effect of all this can be better imagined than described. It was a perfect pandemonium while lasted. The people in the neighbourhood of Morrison Hill got the full benefit of the performance, but what of the patients in boysand girls is apparently gradually settling | the Royal Naval Hospital-not a few of them seriously ill! BILLIARD EXHIBITION.

Mr John Roberts at the Lusitano Club.

On Saturday night at the Lusitano Club, Mr John Roberts, the ex-champion billiardist of the world, played two games of 600 up, against the two best players of the Club. There was a good attendance of

In the first match he met Mr C. M. Remedies, of the Imperial Bank, to whom he conceded 400 points start out of 600. From the start Roberts began to overhaul his opponent, who played brilliantly at times, while at others his strokes were poor. Roberts played with his usual apparent nonchalance, seeming to score with- me in any case whetever. out effort, and never at a loss what to do. His display of nursery cannons, coupled rounds of applause. A series of nursery cannons produced twenty-four points as the balls travelled across the end of the table. As the game went on Roborts got within 49 of his opponent, when the scores stood Remedics 593, Roberts 544. Remedies, however, ran out next cue with an unfinished broak of 7. His best breaks were 22, 19 and 18. while Roberts rattled off 98, 70 and Mr J. A. Carvalho, of the Union Insurance Company, was Roberts' next adversary, and from the first stroke it was seen that the ex-champion was playing against a man of different mettle to that of his former opponent. While not a champion, Carvalho played a fine neat game, the balls running well for him. He kept his handicap (400 out of 600) for some time, and played level with Roberts, who was slow in making a start. After the first hundred each had been scored the ex-champion started to go ahead, and gave an excellent exhibition of fast scoring. His opponent slackened off before his onelaught, seeming. LIMITED. which earlier in the game he would have played skilfully. The professional by breaks of 69, 46 and 47 drew up to Carvalho, and when Carvalho missed at 590. Roberts (who was 593) ran out with an unfinished break of seven. The game was an excellent one, much better than the first, which lacked spirit. Roberts' best breaks were :- 38, 35, 48, 70, 69, 46, 47 and 37, while Carvalhos were : -10, 16, 23, 14: At the finish of the second match Roberts gave an exhibition of fancy shots, proving his mastery over the billiard balls in a fine manner.
